(1) Subject to sub-sections (4), (5) and (6), the jurisdiction of the courts of The Gambia for the purpose of this Act extends to every place within The Gambia, including its territorial waters, and onboard aircraft and ships bearing the flag of The Gambia.

(2) When an act, which –

- (a) if done within The Gambia, would be an offence against this Act; and
- (b) is done by a person in the service of the Government of The Gambia or a statutory body beyond the territorial limits of The Gambia, the person may be tried and punished under this Act in the same manner as if the act had been done within The Gambia.

(3) When an act which –

- (a) if wholly done within the jurisdiction of the court, would be an offence against this Act, and
- (b) is done partly within and partly beyond the jurisdiction, every person who within the jurisdiction does or makes any part of the act may be tried and punished under this Act in the same manner as if the act had been done wholly within the jurisdiction.

(4) When an act which –

- (a) is an offence both within The Gambia and where it was committed; and
- (b) is done by a person outside The Gambia and who afterwards enters The Gambia, he or she may by reason of such entry, be tried and punished under this Act in the same manner as if the act had been done in The Gambia.

he or she is by such coming into The Gambia, liable to be tried and punished, as if he or she had done the act or made the omission in The Gambia.

(6) A person who while out of The Gambia counselled or procured the commission of an offence which is actually committed in The Gambia, afterwards comes into The Gambia, is by such coming into The Gambia liable to be tried and punished, as if he or she had been in The Gambia when the offence was committed.

PART IV - GENERAL RULES AS TO CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

5. Ignorance of law

Ignorance of the law does not afford any excuse for any act or omission which would otherwise constitute an offence unless knowledge of the law by the offender is expressly declared to be an element of the offence.

6. Bona fide claim of right

A person is not criminally responsible in respect of an offence relating to property, if the act done or omitted to be done by him or her with respect to the property was done in the exercise of an honest claim of right and without intention to defraud.

7. Intention and motive

(1) Subject to the express provisions of this Act relating to negligent acts and omissions, a person is not criminally responsible for an act or omission which occurs -

(a) independently of the exercise of his or her will; or

(b) for an event which occurs by accident.

(2) Unless the intention to cause a particular result is expressly declared to be an element of the offence constituted, in whole or part, by an act or omission, the result intended to be caused by an act or omission is immaterial.

(3) Unless otherwise expressly declared, the motive by which a person is induced to do or omit to do an act, or to form an intention, is immaterial so far as regards criminal responsibility.

8. Mistake of fact

(1) A person who does or omits to do an act under an honest and reasonable but mistaken belief in the existence of any state of things is not criminally responsible for the act or omission to any greater extent than if the real state of things had been such as he believed to exist.

(2) The operation of this section may be excluded by the express or implied provisions of the law relating to the subject.

9. Presumption of sound mind

Every person is presumed to be of sound mind, and to have been of sound mind at any time which comes in question, until the contrary is proved.

10. Persons of unsound mind

(1) A person is not criminally responsible for an act if at the time of the act the person, because of being of unsound mind, does not have the capacity to -

- (a) understand what the person is doing;
- (b) control the person's actions; or
- (c) know that the person ought not do the act.

(2) A person whose mind, at the time of his doing or omitting to do an act, is affected by delusions on some specific matter or matters, but who is not otherwise entitled to the benefit of the sub-section (1), is criminally responsible for the act or omission to the same extent as if the real state of things had been such as he was induced by the delusion to believe to exist.

11. Intoxication

(1) Except as provided in this section, intoxication shall not constitute a defence to any criminal charge.

(2) Intoxication shall be a defence to a criminal charge if by reason thereof, the person charged at the time of the act or omission complained of, did not know that such act or omission was wrong or did not know what he or she was doing and the-

- (a) state of intoxication was caused without his or her consent by the malicious or negligent act of another person; or
- (b) person charged was by reason of intoxication, unsound mind, temporarily or otherwise, at the time of such act or omission.

(3) Where the defence under sub-section (2) is established in a case falling under paragraph (a) thereof, the accused person shall be discharged, and in a case falling under paragraph (b) thereof, the procedure outlined under section 178 of the Criminal Procedure Act with respect to an accused person found to be of unsound mind shall apply.

(4) Intoxication shall be taken into account for the purpose of determining whether the person charged had formed any intention, specific or otherwise, in the absence of which he would not be guilty of the offence.

(5) For the purpose of this section, “intoxication” shall be deemed to include a state induced by alcohol, narcotics or drugs.

12. Immature age

A person under the age of twelve years is not criminally responsible for any act or omission.

13. Immunity of Judicial officers

Except as expressly provided by this Act, a judicial officer is not criminally responsible for anything done or omitted to be done by him or her in the exercise of his or her judicial functions, although the act done is in excess of his or her judicial authority or although he or she is bound to do the act omitted to be done.

14. Compulsion

(1) A person is not criminally responsible for an act or omission if he or she does or omits to do the act under any of the following circumstances -

- (a) in execution of the law;
- (b) in obedience of the order of a competent authority which he or she is bound by law to obey, unless the order is manifestly unlawful;
- (c) when the act is reasonably necessary in order to resist actual and unlawful violence threatened to him or her, or to another person in his or her presence;
- (d) when he or she does or omits to do the act in order to save himself or herself from immediate death or grievous harm threatened to be inflicted on him or her by some person actually present and in a position to execute the threats, and believing himself or herself to be unable otherwise to escape the carrying of the threats into execution.

(2) The protection under sub-section (1) (d) does not extend to an act or omission which would constitute an offence punishable with life imprisonment, or an offence of which grievous harm to the person of another, or an intention to cause such harm, is an element, nor to a person who has by entering into an unlawful association or conspiracy rendered himself or herself liable to have such threats made to him or her.

(3) Whether an order is or is not manifestly unlawful under sub-section (1)(b), is a question of law.

15. Necessity

(1) An act or omission which would otherwise be an offence shall be excused if the person accused can show that -

- (a) it was done or omitted to be done only in order to avoid consequences which could not otherwise be avoided, and which if they had followed would have inflicted on him or her or on others whom he or she was bound to protect, inevitable and irreparable harm; and

- (b) no more was done than was reasonably necessary for that purpose, and that the harm inflicted by the person was not disproportionate to the evil avoided.

(2) The defence shall not apply to a person -

- (a) who knowingly and without reasonable excuse exposed himself or herself to the danger known or believed to exist; and the accused has the burden of proving that he or she had not so exposed himself or herself if the question arises; or
- (b) charged with an offence punishable with imprisonment for life.

16. Use of force in effecting arrest

Where a person is charged with a criminal offence arising out of the arrest or attempted arrest, by him or her, of a person who forcibly resists the arrest or attempts to evade being arrested, the court shall, in considering whether the means used were necessary, or the degree of force used was reasonable, for the apprehension of the person, have regard to the -

- (a) gravity of the offence which had been or was being committed by that person; and
- (b) circumstances in which the offence had been or was being committed by the person.

17. Defence of person or property

Subject to any express provisions in this Act or any other law in operation, criminal responsibility for the use of force in the defence of person or property shall be determined according to the principles of English Common Law.

18. Compulsion by husband

A married woman is not free from criminal responsibility for doing or omitting to do an act merely because the act or omission takes place in the presence of her husband; but on a charge against a wife for an offence other than treason or murder, it shall be a good defence to prove that the offence was committed in the presence of, and under the coercion of the husband.

19. Person not to be punished twice for same offence

A person shall not be punished twice either under the provisions of this Act or under the provisions of any other law for the same act or omission, except in the case where the act or omission causes the death of another person, in which case the person may be convicted for murder or manslaughter, notwithstanding that he or she has already been convicted of some other offence constituted by the act or omission.

PART V - DUTIES RELATING TO THE PRESERVATION OF LIFE AND HEALTH

20. Responsibility of person who has charge of another

A person having charge of another person who is unable-

- (a) by reason of age, sickness, unsoundness of mind, detention or any other cause to withdraw himself or herself from such charge; and
- (b) to provide himself or herself with the necessaries of life, whether the charge is undertaken under a contract, or imposed by law, or arises by reason of any act, whether lawful or unlawful, of the person who has such charge, shall provide for that other person the necessaries of life; and he or she shall be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of the other person by reason of any omission to perform that duty.

21. Duty of head of family

A person who, as head of a family, has charge of a child under the age of eighteen years, being a member of his or her household shall-

- (a) provide the necessaries of life for the child; and
- (b) be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of the child by reason of any omission to perform that duty, whether the child is helpless or not.

22. Duty of Principals

A person who as Principal has contracted to provide necessary food, clothing, or lodging for a servant or apprentice under the age of eighteen years, shall -

- (a) provide the same; and
- (b) be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of the servant or apprentice by reason of any omission to perform that duty.

23. Duty of persons doing dangerous acts

A person who, except in a case of necessity, undertakes to -

- (a) administer surgical or medical treatment of any kind whether conventional or unconventional, herbal or traditional to any other person; or
- (b) do any other lawful act which is or may be dangerous to human life or health, shall have reasonable skill and to use reasonable care in doing the act; and he or she shall be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of any person by reason of any omission to observe or perform that duty.

24. Duty of persons in charge of dangerous things

A person who -

- (a) has in his or her charge or under his or her control a thing, whether animate or inanimate, and whether moving or stationary; and
- (b) which is of such a nature that, in the absence of care or precaution in its use or management, the life, safety, or health of a person may be endangered, shall use reasonable care and take reasonable precautions to avoid the danger; and he or she shall be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of any person by reason of any omission to perform that duty.

25. Duty to do certain acts

A person who undertakes to do any act, the omission to do which is or may be dangerous to human life or health shall do that act; and he or she shall be deemed to have caused any consequences which adversely affect the life or health of any person by reason of any omission to observe or perform that act.

PART VI – PARTIES TO OFFENCES

26. Principal offenders

(1) When an offence is committed, each of the following persons is deemed to have taken part in committing the offence, and may be charged with actually committing it, that is to say -

- (a) every person who actually does the act or makes the omission which constitutes the offence;
- (b) every person who does or omits to do any act for the purpose of enabling or aiding another person to commit the offence;
- (c) every person who aids or abets another person in committing the offence; and
- (d) any person who counsels or procures any other person to commit the offence.

(2) In any case falling within sub-section (1)(d), he or she may be charged either with committing the offence or with counselling or procuring its commission.

(3) A conviction of counselling or procuring the commission of an offence entails the same consequences in all respects as a conviction of committing the offence.

(4) A person who procures another person to do or omit to do any act of such a nature that, if he or she had himself done the act or made the omission, the act or omission would have constituted an offence on his or her part, commits an offence of the same kind, and is liable to the same punishment, as if he or she had himself or herself done the act or made the omission.

27. Offences committed by joint offenders in prosecution of common purpose

When two or more persons form a common intention to prosecute an unlawful purpose in conjunction with one another, and in the prosecution of such purpose an offence is committed of such a nature that its commission was a probable consequence of the prosecution of such purpose, each of them is deemed to have committed the offence.

28. Counselling another to commit offence

(1) Where a person counsels another to commit an offence, and an offence is actually committed after the counsel by the person to whom it is given, it is immaterial whether the offence-

- (a) actually committed is the same as that counselled or a different one; or
- (b) is committed in the way counselled or in a different way, if the facts constituting the offence actually committed are a probable consequence of carrying out the counsel.

(2) The person who gave the counsel under sub-section (1) is deemed to have committed the offence.

29. Accessories after the fact

(1) A person who receives or assists another who to his or her knowledge committed an offence, in order to enable him or her to escape punishment, is said to become an accessory after the fact to the offence.

(2) A wife does not become an accessory after the fact to an offence which her husband commits by receiving or assisting him in order to enable him to escape punishment, or by receiving or assisting, in her husband's presence and by his authority, another person who commits an offence in the commission of which her husband has taken part, in order to enable that other person to escape punishment.

(3) A husband does not become an accessory after the fact to an offence which his wife commits by receiving or assisting her in order to enable her to escape punishment.

(4) A person who becomes an accessory after the fact to a felony commits a felony, and is liable on conviction, if no other punishment is provided, to imprisonment for two years.

(5) A person who becomes an accessory after the fact to a misdemeanour commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for one year.

30. Incitement

For the purposes of this Part, a person who incites the commission of any offence shall be deemed to counsel it.

31. Offences by corporations, societies, etc.

Where a body corporate commits an offence against this Act -

- (a) it shall be liable to the penalties therefore so far as those penalties are capable of being imposed upon a body corporate; and
- (b) any director, manager or officer of the body corporate who knowingly directs, authorises or suffers the commission of the offence by the body corporate shall, without affecting the liability of the body corporate therefore, be severally deemed to have committed the offence and liable to the penalty or punishment applicable thereto.

PART VII – PUNISHMENTS

32. Types of punishments

The following punishments may be imposed by a court -

- (a) imprisonment;
- (b) fine;
- (c) payment of costs;
- (d) payment of compensation;
- (e) security to keep the peace and be of good behaviour, or to come up for judgment;
- (f) forfeiture;
- (g) community service, and
- (h) any other punishment prescribed by this Act or any other enactment.

33. Sentencing guidelines

(1) The Chief Justice may make rules in respect of sentencing of convicted persons, in particular on the following matters -

- (a) the fines, costs or compensations to be paid under this Act and periodic review of the same;
- (b) regulation and management of non-custodial punishments provided under this Act.

(2) The rules made under sub-section (1) shall take into account the objectives of sentencing, including the principles of reformation and rehabilitation of offenders.

34. Imprisonment

(1) All imprisonment for an offence against this Act or against any other law may be with or without hard labour, in the discretion of the court, unless the imposition of imprisonment only without hard labour is expressly prescribed by law.

(2) Except as may be expressly provided by the law under which the offence concerned is punishable, a person liable to imprisonment for life or any other period may be sentenced for a shorter term.

(3) A person liable to imprisonment for an offence against this Act or against any other law may be sentenced to pay a fine in addition to or instead of imprisonment.

(4) Sentences of imprisonment shall take effect and run in the manner provided by the Criminal Procedure Act.

35. Fines, costs and compensation

(1) Where a fine is imposed under any law, in the absence of express provisions relating to the fine in such law, the following provisions shall apply-

- (a) where no sum is expressed to which the fine may extend, the amount of the fine which may be imposed is unlimited, but shall not be excessive;
- (b) in the case of an offence punishable with a fine or a term of imprisonment, the imposition of a fine or a term of imprisonment shall be a matter for the discretion of the court;

- (c) a person liable to a fine of any amount may be sentenced to pay a fine of any lesser amount; or
- (d) the court passing sentence may, in its discretion, direct by its sentence that in default of payment of the fine the offender shall suffer imprisonment for a certain term, which he or she may have been sentenced or to whom he or she may be liable under a commutation of sentence.

(2) In the case of an offence punishable with imprisonment as well as a fine in which the offender is sentenced to a fine with or without imprisonment, the court passing sentence may, in its discretion, direct by its sentence that in default of payment of the fine the offender shall suffer imprisonment for a certain term, which he or she may have been sentenced or to which he or she may be liable under a commutation of sentence.

(3) In addition to or in substitution for any other punishment, a court may -

- (a) adjudge a person to pay costs or compensation in the manner provided by section 189 of the Criminal Procedure Act; and
- (b) in default of payment of such costs or compensation or of distress therefore, as provided by law, order that the person in default shall suffer imprisonment for a certain time.

(4) Subject to section 259 of the Criminal Procedure Act, a court may issue a warrant for the levy by distress and sale of any amount due for a fine, costs or compensation on the immovable and movable property of the person ordered to pay the fine, costs or compensation.

(5) The term of imprisonment ordered by a court in respect of the non-payment of any sum of money adjudged to be paid by way of fine, costs or compensation or in respect of the default of a sufficient distress to satisfy the sum shall be such term as in the opinion of the court will satisfy the justice of the case, but shall not exceed in any case the maximum fixed by the following scale -

Amount Maximum	Period
Not exceeding D5,000	7 days
Exceeding D5,000 but not exceeding D10,000	14 days

Exceeding D10,000 but not exceeding D100,000	1 month
Exceeding D100,000 but not exceeding D200,000	2 months
Exceeding D200,000 but not exceeding D400,000.....	4 months
Exceeding D400,000 but not exceeding D600,000.....	9 months
Exceeding D600,000 but not exceeding D800,000.....	1 year
Exceeding D800,000 but not exceeding D1,000,000.....	2 years
Exceeding D1,000,000	above 2 years

(6) The imprisonment which is imposed in default of payment of a fine, costs or compensation shall terminate whenever the fine, costs or compensation is either paid or levied by process of law.

(7) If, before the expiration of a term of imprisonment imposed in default of payment of a fine, the person imprisoned, or some other person on his or her behalf, pays any sum in part satisfaction of the sum adjudged to be paid, the period of the imprisonment shall be reduced by a number of days bearing as nearly as possible the same proportion to the total number of days of the term of imprisonment so imposed as the sum so paid bears to the sum so adjudged to be paid.

(8) The officer in charge of a prison in which a person is confined who is desirous of taking advantage of the provisions of sub-section (7) shall, on an application made to him or her by that person, at once take him or her before a court, and the court shall certify the amount by which the period of imprisonment originally imposed is reduced by the payment in part satisfaction of the sum adjudged to be paid, and shall make such order as is required in the circumstances.

36. Security for keeping the peace and be of good behaviour or to come up for judgment

In the case of any offence not punishable with life imprisonment, a person may -

- (a) instead of or in addition to, any other punishment to which he or she is liable and subject to any provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act, be ordered to enter into a recognisance with or without a surety, in such amount as the court thinks fit, conditioned that he or she shall keep the peace and be of good behaviour for a time fixed by the court; or

- (b) be ordered to appear to receive judgment or sentence at some future sitting of the court or when called upon.

37. Forfeiture

(1) If a person is convicted of an offence under any of the following sections, namely, sections 79, 80, 81, 95, 96 and 97, the court may, in addition to or in lieu of any penalty which may be imposed -

- (a) order the forfeiture to the State of any property which has passed in connection with the commission of the offence and any property or sum so forfeited shall be dealt with in such manner as the Minister may direct; or
- (b) if the property cannot be forfeited or cannot be found, order such sum to be paid as the court shall assess as the value of the property.

(2) The payment of a sum so ordered to be forfeited shall be dealt with in such manner as the Minister may direct.

(3) The payment of a sum so ordered to be forfeited may be enforced in the same manner and subject to the same incidents as in the case of the payment of a fine.

38. General punishment for misdemeanours

When in this Act no punishment is specifically provided for any misdemeanour, it shall be punishable on conviction with a fine or with imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or with both the fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER II – OFFENCES AGAINST PUBLIC ORDER

PART VIII – TREASON AND OTHER OFFENCES AGAINST THE SOVEREIGN STATE

39. Treason

A person who -

- (a) prepares or endeavours to overthrow the Government by unlawful means;
- (b) prepares or endeavours to procure by force any alteration of the law or the policies of Government;
- (c) prepares or endeavours to carry out by force an enterprise which usurps the executive power of the State in any matter of both a public and a general nature;
- (d) incites or assists or procures a person to invade The Gambia with an armed force or to subject any part of The Gambia to attack by land, sea or air or assists in the preparation of any such invasion or attack;
- (e) in the time of war and with intent to give assistance to the enemy, does any act which is likely to give such assistance;
- (f) causes or attempts to cause the death of a member of the Government or other citizen of The Gambia with a view to securing the overthrow of the Government or with intent to coerce any other citizen of The Gambia into opposing the Government or otherwise into withdrawing or withholding his or her support from the Government;
- (g) by himself or herself or in concert with others, by any violent or other unlawful means, suspends or overthrows or abrogates the Constitution or any part of it, or attempts to do any such act; or
- (h) conspires with any other person or persons to effect any of the purposes specified in paragraphs (a) to (g) of this section, commits the offence of treason and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

40. Concealment of treason

A person who knowing that any other person intends to commit treason, does not -

- (a) give information thereof within all reasonable despatch to a Minister, a Magistrate, a police officer or a member of the Armed Forces; or
- (b) use other reasonable endeavour to prevent the commission of the offence, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

41. Spying

(1) A person who, for any purpose prejudicial to the safety or interest of The Gambia -

- (a) makes any document which is intended to be or may be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy; or
- (c) obtains, collects photographs, records, publishes or communicates to any other person any information or document of a confidential nature which is intended to be, or may be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a minimum term of thirty years and maximum term of life.

(2) For the purposes of this section -

“document” includes any sketch, plan, photograph, model, article or note; and “information” includes any secret official act word or password.

42. Corroboration

A person charged under section 39, 40 or 41 shall not be convicted on the uncorroborated testimony of one witness.

43. Consent of the Attorney General required

A person shall not be prosecuted for an offence under section 39, 40, or 41 without the consent of the Attorney General.

44. Inciting mutiny

A person who attempts to -

- (a) seduce any person serving in the armed forces or any member of the police force from his or her duty and allegiance to the State,
- (b) incite any such person to commit an act of mutiny or any traitorous or mutinous act, or
- (c) incite any such persons to make or endeavour to make a mutinous assembly, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

45. Inciting to sedition or to disobedience of lawful order

A person who incites a member of the armed forces or the police force to sedition or to disobedience to any lawful order by a superior officer, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

46. Inducing members of the armed forces or policemen to desert

A person who by any means whatsoever, directly or indirectly procures or persuades or attempts to procure or persuade any member of the armed forces or the police force to desert, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for not less than two years and not more than five years.

47. Aiding prisoners of war to escape

(1) A person who knowingly aids an alien enemy of The Gambia, whether the person is confined in a prison or elsewhere, or is at large on his or her parole, to escape from his or her prison or place of confinement, or, if he or she is at large on his or her parole, to escape from The Gambia, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

(2) A person who negligently and unlawfully permits the escape of any such person as is mentioned in sub-section (1) commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years.

48. Interpretation

(1) For the purposes of sections 49 to 52 -

“import” includes-

- (a) to bring into The Gambia; or

- (b) to bring within the inland waters of The Gambia whether or not the publication is brought ashore, and whether or not there is an intention to bring the publication ashore;

“periodical publication” includes every publication issued periodically or in parts or numbers at intervals whether regular or irregular;

“publication” includes -

- (a) all written and printed matter,
- (b) any gramophone or other record, perforated roll, tape, cinematograph film or other contrivance by means of which any words or ideas may be mechanically produced, represented or conveyed, and
- (c) everything whether of a nature similar to the foregoing or not, containing any visible representing or conveying words or ideas, and every copy and reproduction of any publication so defined;

“seditious publication” means a publication having a seditious intention;

“seditious words” means words having a seditious intention.

(2) A “seditious intention” is an intention -

- (a) to bring into hatred or contempt or to excite disaffection against the person of the President, or the Government of The Gambia as by law established;
- (b) to excite the inhabitants of The Gambia to attempt to procure the alteration, otherwise than by lawful means, of any matter in The Gambia as by law established;
- (c) to bring into hatred or contempt or to excite disaffection against the administration of justice in The Gambia;
- (d) to raise discontent or disaffection amongst the inhabitants of The Gambia; or
- (e) to promote feelings of ill-will and hostility between different classes of the population of The Gambia, but an act, speech or publication is not seditious only by reason that it intends -

- (i) to show that the President has been misled or mistaken in any of his or her measures,
- (ii) to point out errors or defects in the Government or constitution of The Gambia as by law established or in legislation or in the administration of justice with a view to remedying the errors or defects,
- (iii) to persuade the inhabitants of The Gambia to attempt to procure by lawful means the alteration of any matter in The Gambia as by law established, or
- (iv) to point out, with a view to their removal, any matters which are producing or have a tendency to produce feelings of ill-will and enmity between different classes of the population of The Gambia.

(3) In determining whether the intention with which an act was done, words were spoken, or a document was published, was or was not seditious, every person shall be deemed to intend the consequences which would naturally follow from his or her conduct at the time and under the circumstances in which he or she so conducted himself or herself.

49. Power to prohibit publications

(1) Where the Minister, on reasonable grounds, considers that it is necessary in the interest of public order, health, morals or security and to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society, he or she may by order published in the Gazette, prohibit the importation of any publication.

(2) If the President on reasonable grounds, considers that it is necessary in the interest of public order, health, morals or security that the importation of publications published by any company, institution, firm or person of whatsoever kind or in or emanating from any country or place would be contrary to the public interest, he or she may by Order published in the Gazette prohibit the importation generally of any or all such publications:

(3) The President may at any time by the same or a subsequent Order, provide generally or specially for the exclusion from the provisions of the Order of any particular publication or publications, on the application of a person resident in The Gambia, and for any conditions appropriate to the exclusion and for any matters connected therewith or relating thereto.

50. Punishments relating to prohibited publications

(1) A person who imports, publishes, sells, offers for sale, distributes or reproduces any publication, the importation of which has been prohibited under section 49, or any extract from the publication, commits an offence and is liable on conviction -

- (a) for a first offence, to a fine not exceeding fifty thousand dalasis or to imprisonment not exceeding one year or to both fine and imprisonment; and
- (b) for a subsequent offence, to imprisonment for two years; and the publication or extract therefrom shall be forfeited to the State.

(2) A person who without lawful excuse has in his or her possession any publication the importation of which has been prohibited under section 49, or any extract therefrom, commits an offence and is liable on conviction -

- (a) for a first offence to a fine not exceeding five hundred dalasis or to imprisonment; and
- (b) for a subsequent offence to imprisonment not exceeding two years, and the publication or extract therefrom shall be forfeited to the State.

(3) In any proceedings taken under the provisions of this section, a certificate signed under the hand of the Minister to the effect that any publication which is the subject of any charge in the proceedings was published by a company, institution, firm or person, or in, or emanated from any country or place, shall on the bare production thereof by the Prosecutor be prima facie proof as to the facts certified.

51. Delivery of prohibited publication to police station or administrative officer

(1) A person to whom any publication the importation of which has been prohibited under section 49, or any extract therefrom, is sent -

- (a) without his or her knowledge or privity,

- (b) in response to a request made before the prohibition of the importation of such publication came into effect, and
- (c) who has such a publication or extract therefrom in his or her possession at the time when the prohibition of its importation comes into effect, shall forthwith if or as soon as the nature of its contents have become known to him or her, or the coming into effect of the Order prohibiting the importation of the publication, deliver such publication or extract therefrom to the officer in charge of the nearest police station or an administrative officer.

(2) A person who fails to comply with sub-section (1) commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty thousand dalasis or to imprisonment not exceeding one year or to both the fine and imprisonment, and the publication or extract therefrom shall be forfeited to the State.

(3) A person who complies with the provisions of sub-section (1) or is convicted of an offence under that sub-section shall not be liable to be convicted for having imported or having in his or her possession the same publication or extract therefrom.

52. Power to examine packages

(1) The Managing Director of The Gambia Postal Services Corporation, an officer of the Corporation nominated in writing by the Inspector-General of Police for the purpose or a superior police officer as defined in the Police Act may -

- (a) detain, open and examine any package or article which he or she suspects to contain any publication or extract therefrom which it is an offence under the provisions of section 50 to import, publish, sell, offer for sale, distribute, reproduce or possess, and
- (b) during the examination, may detain any person importing, distributing or, posting the package or article or in whose possession the package or article is found.

(2) If a publication or an extract therefrom is found in the package or article, the -

- (a) whole package or article may be impounded and retained by the officer; and

- (b) person importing, distributing, or posting it, or in whose possession it is found, may be arrested and proceeded against for the commission of an offence under section 50 or 51.

53. Unlawful oaths to commit capital offences

A person who –

- (a) administers, or is present at and consents to the administering of, any oath, or engagement in the nature of an oath, purporting to bind the person who takes it to commit a capital offence; or
- (b) takes any such oath or engagement, without being compelled to do so, commits a felony and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

54. Other unlawful oaths to commit offences

A person who -

- (a) administers, or is present at and consents to the administering of, any oath or engagement in the nature of an oath, purporting to bind the person who takes it to act in any of the following ways, that is to say-
 - (i) to engage in a mutinous or seditious enterprise,
 - (ii) to commit an offence not punishable with life imprisonment,
 - (iii) to disturb the public peace,
 - (iv) to be of any association, society or confederacy, formed for the purpose of doing any such act as aforesaid,
 - (v) to obey the order or commands of a committee or body of persons not lawfully constituted, or of a leader or commander or other person not having authority by law for that purpose,
 - (vi) not to inform or give evidence against an associate confederate or other person, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years.

103. Removal, etc., of property under lawful seizure

A person who, when any property has been attached or taken under the process of the authority of any court, knowingly, and with intent to hinder or defeat the attachment or process, receives, removes, retains, conceals or disposes of that property, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years.

104. Obstructing court officers

A person who wilfully obstructs or resists any person lawfully charged with the execution of an order or warrant of a court, commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for one year.

PART XIV – MISCELLANEOUS OFFENCES AGAINST PUBLIC AUTHORITY

105. Frauds and breaches of trust by persons employed in the public service

A person employed in the public service who, in the discharge of the duties of his or her office, commits any fraud or breach of trust affecting the public, whether the fraud or breach of trust would have been criminal or not if committed against a private person, commits a misdemeanour.

106. Neglect of official duty

A person employed in the public service who wilfully neglects to perform a duty which he or she is bound either by common law or statute to perform, provided that the discharge of the duty is not attended with greater danger than a person of ordinary courage might be expected to face, commits a misdemeanour.

107. Giving false information, and parental insult to public officers

(1) A person who gives a public officer an information which he or she knows or believes to be false, intending thereby to cause or knowing it to be likely that he or she will thereby cause such public officer to use the lawful power of such public officer to the injury, prejudice or annoyance of any person commits a misdemeanour.

(2) A person who directs parental insult to the President, Vice President, a Minister, a member of the National Assembly, a civil servant or any other public officer in the exercise of his or her functions, shall be held liable on summary conviction to a fine of not less than ten thousand dalasis and not more than fifty thousand dalasis or a term of imprisonment of not less than one month and not more than six month or to both fine and imprisonment.

108. Disobedience of statutory duty

A person who wilfully disobeys any statute by doing any act which it forbids, or by omitting to do any act which it requires to be done, and which concerns the public or any part of the public, commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for two years, unless it appears from the Act that it was the intention of the National Assembly to provide some other penalty for the disobedience.

109. Disobedience of lawful orders

A person who disobeys any order, warrant or command duly made, issued or given by any court, officer or any person acting in a public capacity and duly authorised in that behalf, commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for two years, unless any other penalty or mode of proceeding is expressly prescribed in respect of the disobedience.

CHAPTER IV – OFFENCES INJURIOUS TO THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL

PART XV – OFFENCES RELATING TO RELIGION

110. Insult to religion of any class

A person who destroys, damages or defiles any place of worship or any object which is held sacred by any class of persons with the intention of insulting the religion of the class of persons or with the knowledge that any class of persons is likely to consider such destruction, damage or defilement as an insult to their religion, commits a misdemeanour.

111. Disturbing religious assemblies

A person, who voluntarily causes disturbance to an assembly lawfully engaged in the performance of religious worship or religious ceremony, commits a misdemeanour.

112. Trespassing on burial places

A person who, with the -

- (a) intention of wounding the feelings of another person or of insulting the religion of the person;
- (b) knowledge that the feelings of the person are likely to be wounded, or
- (c) knowledge that the religion of any person is likely to be insulted, commits any trespass in any place of worship or in a place of sepulture, or in a place set apart for the performance of funeral rites or as a depository for the remains of the dead, or offers any indignity to any human corpse, or causes disturbance to any persons assembled for the purpose of funeral ceremonies, commits a misdemeanour.

113. Uttering words with intent to wound religious feelings

A person who, with the deliberate intention of wounding the religious feelings of another person -

- (a) utters or writes any word;
- (b) makes any sound in the hearing of that person;
- (c) makes any gesture in the sight of that person, or
- (d) places any object in the sight of that person,

commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for one year.

PART - XVI – OFFENCES AGAINST MORALITY

114. Male person living on earnings of prostitution or persistently soliciting

(1) A male person who -

- (a) knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution;

(b) in a public place persistently solicits or importunes for immoral purposes; or

(c) commits, or is an accomplice in the commission of prostitution,

commits a misdemeanour.

(2) Where a male person is proved to -

(a) live with or to be habitually in the company of a prostitute; or

(b) have exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in a manner that shows that he is aiding, abetting or compelling prostitution with any other person, or generally, he shall, unless he satisfies the court to the contrary, be deemed to be knowingly living on the earnings of prostitution.

115. Woman living on earnings of prostitution or aiding, etc., for gain, prostitution

A woman who -

(a) knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution;

(b) is proved to have, for the purpose of gain, exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in a manner that shows that she is aiding, abetting or compelling prostitution with any person, or generally; or

(c) commits, or is an accomplice in the commission of prostitution,

commits a misdemeanour.

116. Suspicious premises

If it is made to appear to a Magistrate by information on oath that –

- (a) there is reason to suspect that a house or a part of a house is used by a person for the purposes of prostitution; and
- (b) any person residing in or frequenting the house is living wholly or in part on the earnings of the prostitute, or is exercising control, direction or influence over the movements of the prostitute, he or she may issue a warrant authorising a police officer to enter and search the house and to arrest the person.

117. Brothels

A person who keeps or manages a house, room, set of rooms, or place of any kind whatsoever for purposes of prostitution commits a misdemeanour.

118. Attempts to procure abortion

A person who, with intent to procure miscarriage of a woman, whether she is or is not with child, unlawfully administers to her or causes her to take any poison or other noxious thing, or uses any force of any kind, or uses any other means whatsoever, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

119. Attempts by woman with child to procure her own abortion

A woman who, being with child, with intent to procure her own miscarriage, unlawfully administers to herself a poison or other noxious thing, or uses force of any kind, or uses any other means whatsoever, or permits any such thing or means to be administered or used on her, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

120. Abortion and related offences

(1) A person who unlawfully supplies to or procures for another person anything whatsoever, knowing that it is intended to be unlawfully used to procure the miscarriage of a woman, whether she is or is not with child, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years.

(2) A person shall not be liable for an offence under sub-section (1) when a pregnancy is terminated by a registered medical practitioner who is of the opinion, in good faith, that –

- (a) the continued pregnancy endangers the life of the mother or the life of the foetus;
- (b) the pregnancy is the result of rape or incest;
- (c) the termination is necessary to prevent grave permanent injury to the physical or mental health of the pregnant woman;
- (d) the continuance of the pregnancy would involve risk to the life of the pregnant woman, greater than if the pregnancy were terminated; or
- (e) there is a substantial risk that if the child were born it would suffer from such physical or mental abnormalities as to be seriously handicapped.

121. Knowledge of age of female immaterial

Except as otherwise expressly stated, it is immaterial in the case of any of the offence committed with respect to a woman or girl under a specified age, that the accused person did not know that the woman or girl was under that age, or believed that she was not under that age.

122. Unnatural offences

(1) A person who -

- (a) engages in a sexual act with any person against the order of nature; or
- (b) engages in a sexual act with an animal; or
- (c) permits any person to engage in a sexual act with him or her against the order of nature, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not less than five years.

(2) In this section, “engaging in a sexual act with any person against the order of nature” includes committing any homosexual act with another person.

123. Attempts to commit unnatural offences

A person who attempts to commit any of the offences specified in section 122 commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term of not less than five years.

124. Indecent practices

(1) A male person who, whether in public or private, commits an act of gross indecency with another male person, or procures another male person to commit an act of gross indecency with him, or attempts to procure the commission of any such act by any male person with himself or with another male person, whether in public or private, commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for not less than three years.

(2) A female person who, whether in public or private, commits an act of gross indecency with another female person, or procures another female person to commit an act of gross indecency with her, or attempts to procure the commission of any such act by any female person with herself or with another female person, whether in public or private, commit a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for not less than three years.

(3) In this section, “act of gross indecency” includes any homosexual act.

125. Incest by males

(1) A male person who engages in a sexual act with a female person, who is to his knowledge, his daughter, sister, granddaughter, mother or grandmother, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not less than five years and not more than ten years.

(2) If it is alleged in the information or charge under sub-section (1), and proved that the female person is under the age of thirteen years, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for life.

(3) It is immaterial that the sexual act was had with the consent of the female person.

(4) If a male person attempts to commit the offence in subsection (1), he commits a misdemeanour.

(5) On the conviction of a male person for an offence under this section, or of an attempt to commit the same, against a female under the age of twenty-one years, the court may -

- (a) divest the offender of all authority over the female, and
- (b) if the offender is the guardian of the female, to remove the offender from that guardianship, and to appoint a person or persons to be the guardian or guardians of the female during her minority or any less period.

(6) The High Court may at any time vary or rescind an order under sub-section (5) by the appointment of another person as the guardian, or in any other respect.

126. Incest by females

(1) A female person who engages in a sexual act with a male person, who is to her knowledge, her son, brother, grandson, father or grandfather, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not less than five years and not more than ten years.

(2) If it is alleged in the information or charge under sub-section (1), and proved that the male person is under the age of thirteen years, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for life.

(3) It is immaterial that the sexual act was had with the consent of the male person.

(4) If a female person attempts to commit the offence in subsection (1), she commits a misdemeanour.

(5) On the conviction of a female person for an offence under this section, or of an attempt to commit the same, against a male under the age of twenty-one years, the court may -

- (a) divest the offender of all authority over the male, and
- (b) if the offender is the guardian of the male, to remove the offender from that guardianship, and to appoint a person or persons to be the guardian or guardians of the male during his minority or any less period.

(6) The High Court may at any time vary or rescind an order under sub-section (5) by the appointment of another person as the guardian, or in any other respect.

127. Test of relationship

(1) In section 125 and 126, the expressions “brother” and “sister” respectively include half-brother and half-sister.

(2) The provisions of sections 125 and 126 shall apply whether the relationship between the person charged with an offence and the person with whom the offence is alleged to have been committed is or is not traced through lawful wedlock.

128. Proceedings in camera

The proceedings under sections 122, 123, 124, 125 and 126 may be held in camera.

129. Sanction of Attorney General

A prosecution for an offence under section 125 or 126 shall not be commenced without the sanction of the Attorney General.

PART XVII - OFFENCES RELATING TO MARRIAGE AND DOMESTIC OBLIGATIONS

130. Fraudulent pretence of marriage

A person who wilfully and by fraud, causes another person who is not lawfully married to them to believe that they are lawfully married and to cohabit or engage in sexual intercourse under that belief, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for ten years.

131. Bigamy

(1) A person who, having a husband or wife living, goes through a ceremony of marriage which is void by reason of it taking place during the life of that husband or wife, commits a felony and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

(2) This section shall not extend to a person -

- (a) whose marriage with the husband or wife has been declared void by a court of competent jurisdiction; or
- (b) who contracts a marriage during the life of a former husband or wife, if the husband or wife, at the time of the subsequent marriage, has been continually absent from that person for the space of seven years, and has not been heard of by that person as being alive within that time.

132. Marriage ceremony fraudulently gone through without lawful Marriage

A person who dishonestly or with a fraudulent intention goes through the ceremony of marriage, knowing that he or she is not thereby lawfully married, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

133. Desertion of children

A parent, guardian or other person having the lawful care or charge of a child, wilfully and without lawful or reasonable cause deserts the child and leaves him or her without means of support, commits a felony.

134. Neglecting to provide food, etc., for children

A parent or guardian or other person having the lawful care or charge of a child who is unable to provide for himself or herself, refuses or neglects to provide sufficient food, clothes, bedding and other necessities for the child, so as to injure the health of that child, commits a felony.

135. Master not providing for servants or apprentices

A person who, being legally liable either as master or mistress, to provide for any apprentice or servant necessary food, clothing or lodging, wilfully and without lawful excuse refuses or neglects to provide the same, or unlawfully and maliciously does or causes to be done any bodily harm to such apprentice or servant so that the life of such apprentice or servant is endangered or that his or her health has been or is likely to be permanently injured, commits a felony.

136. Child stealing

(1) A person who, with intent to deprive any parent, guardian or other person who has the lawful care or charge of a child, of the possession of the child -

- (a) forcibly or fraudulently takes or entices away, or detains the child; or

- (b) receives or harbours the child knowing him or her to have been so taken or enticed away or detained, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for seven years.

(2) It is a defence to a charge of any of the offences defined in subsection (1) to prove that the accused person claimed in good faith a right to the possession of the child, or, in the case of an illegitimate child, is his or her mother or claimed to be his or her father.

PART XVIII – NUISANCES AND OFFENCES AGAINST HEALTH AND CONVENIENCE

137. Common nuisance

(1) A person who does an act not authorised by law or omits to discharge a legal duty and as a result causes any common injury or danger or annoyance, or obstructs or causes inconvenience to the public in the exercise of common rights, commits a misdemeanour termed as ‘common nuisance’ and is liable on conviction to a fine of not less than twenty thousand dalasis or community service or both.

(2) It is immaterial that the act or omission complained of is convenient to a larger number of the public than it inconveniences, but the fact that it facilitates the lawful exercise of their rights by a part of the public may show that it is not a nuisance to any of the public.

138. Gaming houses

(1) A person who -

- (a) being the owner or occupier or, having the use of, a house, room or place, who opens, keeps or uses the same for the purpose of unlawful gaming;
- (b) being the owner or occupier of a house, room or place, knowingly and wilfully permits the same to be opened, kept or used by any other person for the purpose of unlawful gaming; or
- (c) having the care or management of or in any manner assisting in conducting the business of a house, room or place opened, kept or used for the purpose of unlawful gaming, is said to keep a common gaming house.

(2) In this section “unlawful gaming” means any game the chances of which are not alike favourable to all the players, including the banker or other person or persons by whom the game is managed, or against whom the other players stake, pay or bet.

(3) A person who keeps a common gaming house commits a misdemeanour.

(4) A person other than the persons mentioned in sub-section (1) who is found in a common gaming house shall be deemed, unless the contrary is proved, to be there for the purpose of unlawful gaming, and commits a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to -

- (a) a fine of five thousand dalasis for the first offence; and
- (b) a fine of twenty thousand dalasis or imprisonment for three months or to both for each subsequent offence.

139. Betting houses

(1) A house, room or place which is used for any of the following purposes -

- (a) for the purpose of bets being made therein between persons resorting to the place and -
 - (i) the owner, occupier, or keeper of the place, or a person using the place,
 - (ii) a person procured or employed by or acting for or on behalf of the owner, occupier or keeper, or a person using the place,
 - (iii) a person having the care or management, or in any manner conducting the business of the place; or
- (b) for the purpose of any money or other property being paid or received therein by or on behalf of the owner, occupier, or keeper, or person using the place, as, or for the consideration -
 - (i) for the purpose of any money or other property being paid or received therein by or on behalf of the owner, occupier, or keeper, or person using the place, as, or for the consideration,

- (ii) for an assurance, undertaking, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to pay or give thereafter any money or other property on any event or contingency of or relating to any horse race, or other race, fight, game, sport or exercise, or
- (iii) for securing the paying or giving by some other person of any money or other property on the event or contingency, is called a common betting house.

(2) A person who, being the owner or occupier of a house, room or place, knowingly and wilfully permits it to be opened, kept or used as a common betting house by another person, or who has the use or management, or assists in conducting the business, of a common betting house, commits a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for one year.

(3) Nothing contained in this section shall make illegal -

- (a) the use of a totalisator by a race club, or sports club recognised by the Government at any public meeting, with the approval in each case of the Inspector-General of Police; or
- (b) the use of a house, room or place for the receipt or negotiation of any pool bet in pursuance of a licence issued under the Pool Betting (Licensing) Act.

[Cap. 85:02]

(4) In this section “totalisator” means the instrument, machine or contrivance of a like nature, or any scheme for enabling any number of persons, to make bets with one another on the same principles.

140. Lotteries

(1) A person shall not open, keep, carry on, or operate a lottery unless licensed by the relevant authority.

(2) An authority issued under sub-section (1) shall be subject to such terms and conditions as the licensing authority may impose.

(3) A person who fails to comply with -

- (a) sub-section (1); and
- (b) with any condition imposed under sub-section (2),

commits a misdemeanour.

(4) A person who prints or publishes or causes to be printed or published, an advertisement or other notice of or relating to any lottery not so authorised, or of or relating to the sale of any ticket or chance or of any share in any ticket or chance in any lottery not so authorised, is liable to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis.

(5) In this section, the word “lottery” includes any scheme or device for the sale, gift, disposal or distribution of any property depending on or to be determined by lot or chance, whether by the throwing or casting of dice, or by the drawing of tickets, cards, lots, numbers or figures, or by means of a wheel or trained animal, or otherwise.

(6) When a person is convicted of an offence under this section the court may, in addition to, or in lieu of, any penalty which may be imposed, order the forfeiture to the State of any instrument or thing used in connection with the lottery concerning which the conviction has taken place.

141. Keeper of premises defined

A person who appears, acts, or behaves as master or mistress, or as the person having the care or management of a house, room, set of rooms, or place as is mentioned in sections 138, 139, and 140 is to be taken to be the keeper thereof, whether he or she is or is not the real keeper.

142. Traffic in obscene publications

(1) A person who -

- (a) sells, lets to hire, distributes, or in any manner puts into circulation, or for the purposes of sale, hire, distribution, public exhibition or circulation makes, produces or has in his or her possession an obscene book, pamphlet, paper, drawing, paintings, representation or figure or any other obscene object whatsoever;
- (b) imports, exports or conveys an obscene object for any of the purposes aforesaid, or knowing or having reason to believe that any such object will be sold, let to hire, distributed or publicly exhibited or in any manner put into circulation;

- (c) takes part in or receives profit from any business in the course of which he or she knows or has reason to believe that any such obscene object is, for any of the purposes aforesaid, made, produced, purchased, kept, imported, exported, conveyed, publicly exhibited, or in any manner put into circulation;
- (d) advertises or makes known by any means whatsoever that a person is engaged or is ready to engage in any act which is an offence under this section, or that any such obscene object can be procured from or through a person; or
- (e) exhibits any indecent show or performance in a public place,

commits a misdemeanour.

(2) A person convicted under sub-section (1) shall forfeit to the State all obscene books, pamphlets, papers, drawings, paintings, representations or figures or any other obscene objects whatsoever connected with the committing of the offence.

143. Wearing of uniform without authority prohibited

(1) A person who, not being a person serving in the disciplined forces or the police force, the Armed Forces or any foreign Force stationed in The Gambia wears without the permission of the President, the uniform of any of those Forces or any dress having the appearance or bearing any of the regimental or other distinctive marks on such uniform, commits a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to a fine of ten thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for one month:

(2) Notwithstanding sub-section (1), a person may wear a uniform or dress in the course of a stage play performed in a place in which stage plays may lawfully be publicly performed, or in the course of a music-hall or circus performance, or in the course of any bona fide military representation.

(3) A person who unlawfully wears the uniform of any of the forces mentioned in this section, or any dress having the appearance or bearing any of the regimental or other distinctive marks of any such uniform, in a manner or in such circumstances as to be likely to bring contempt on that uniform, or employs any other person to wear the uniform or dress, commits a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to a fine of thirty thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for three months.

144. Negligent act likely to spread infection of disease dangerous to life

A person who unlawfully or negligently does any act which is, and which he or she knows or has reason to believe to be, likely to spread the infection of any disease dangerous to life, commits a misdemeanour.

145. Adulteration of food or drink intended for sale

(1) A person who subjects any article of food or drink to such treatment as to make the article noxious, as food or drink or of less nutritive value, intending to sell the article as food or drink, or knowing it to be likely that the same will be sold as food or drink, commits a felony.

(2) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable, on conviction -

(a) in the case of an individual to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years; and

(b) in the case of a corporate body, to a fine of five million dalasis and revocation of their trade and business licence.

146. Sale of noxious food or drink

(1) A person who sells, or offers or exposes for sale, as food or drink, an article which has been rendered or has become noxious, or is in a state unfit for food or drink, knowing or having reason to believe that the same is noxious as food or drink, commits a felony.

(2) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable, on conviction -

(a) in the case of an individual to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years; and

(b) in the case of a corporate body, to a fine of five million dalasis and revocation of their trade and business licence.

147. Adulteration of drugs

(1) A person who adulterates any drug or medical preparation in a manner that lessens the efficacy or changes the operation of the drug or medical preparation, or to make it noxious, intending that it shall be sold or used for, or knowing it to be likely that it will be sold or used for, any medicinal purpose, as if it has not undergone such adulteration, commits a felony.

(2) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable, on conviction -

(a) in the case of an individual to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years; and

(b) in the case of a corporate body, to a fine of five million dalasis and revocation of their trade and business licence.

148. Sale of adulterated drugs

(1) A person who, knowingly sells any drug or medical preparation that has been adulterated in a manner that lessens its efficacy, changes its operation, or renders it noxious, sells the same, offers or exposes it for sale, or issues it from any dispensary for medicinal purposes as unadulterated, or causes it to be used for medicinal purposes by a person not knowing of the adulteration, commits a felony.

(2) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable, on conviction -

(a) in the case of an individual to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years; and

(b) in the case of a corporate body, to a fine of five million dalasis and revocation of their trade and business licence.

149. Fouling water

A person who voluntarily corrupts or fouls the water of a public spring or reservoir, so as to render it less fit for the purpose for which it is ordinarily used, commits a felony.

(1) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable, on conviction -

(a) in the case of an individual to a fine of one hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years; and

(b) in the case of a corporate body, to a fine of five million dalasis and revocation of their trade and business licence.

150. Fouling air

A person who voluntarily vitiates the atmosphere in any place so as to make it noxious to the health of persons in general dwelling or carrying on business in the neighbourhood or passing along a public way, commits a misdemeanour.

151. Offensive trades

A person who, for the purposes of trade or otherwise, makes loud noises or offensive or unwholesome smells in such places and circumstances as to annoy any considerable number of persons in the exercise of their common rights, commits a misdemeanour and is liable on conviction to be punished as for a common nuisance.

152. False publication and broadcasting

(1) A person who wilfully, negligently or recklessly, or having no reason to believe that it is true, publishes or broadcasts any information or news, in any medium or form, which is false in any material particular commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine of not less than fifty thousand dalasis and not more than two hundred and fifty thousand dalasis or imprisonment for one year or both.

(2) It shall be no defence to a charge under sub-section (1) that the person did not know that the information or news was false, unless it is proved that he or she took reasonable measures to verify the accuracy of the information or news.

CHAPTER V – OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON

PART XIX – MURDER AND MANSLAUGHTER

153. Manslaughter

(1) A person who causes the death of another person by any unlawful harm commits an offence of manslaughter.

(2) If the harm causing death is caused by negligence, he or she shall not be convicted for manslaughter unless the negligence amounts to a reckless disregard for human life.

154. Punishment of manslaughter

A person convicted of the felony of manslaughter is liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term of ten years or, in the most severe cases, imprisonment for life.

155. Murder

A person who of malice aforethought causes death of another person by an unlawful act or omission commits the offence of murder.

156. Punishment of murder

A person convicted of murder shall be sentenced to imprisonment for life.

157. Malice aforethought

'Malice aforethought' shall be deemed to be established by evidence proving any one or more of the following circumstances -

- (a) an intention to cause the death of or to do grievous harm to a person, whether that person is the person actually killed or not;
- (b) knowledge that the act or omission causing death will probably cause the death of or grievous harm to a person, whether that person is the person actually killed or not, although the knowledge is accompanied by indifference whether death or grievous bodily harm is caused or not, or by a wish that it may not be caused;
- (c) using violent measures in the commission of, or attempt at, a felony; or
- (d) an intention by the act or omission to facilitate the flight or escape from custody of a person who has committed or attempted to commit a felony.

158. Definition of provocation

A person who unlawfully kills another under circumstances which, but for the provisions of this section, would constitute murder, does the act which causes death in the heat of passion caused by sudden provocation as hereinafter defined, and before there is time for his or her passion to cool, commits manslaughter only.

159. Killing on provocation

(1) A person who intentionally causes the death of another person by unlawful harm shall be guilty only of manslaughter, and not of murder or attempt to murder, if -

- (a) he or she was deprived of the power of self-control by such extreme provocation given by the other person as is mentioned in succeeding sections;
- (b) he or she was justified in causing some harm to the other person, and, in causing harm in excess of the harm which he was justified in causing, he acted from such terror of immediate death or grievous harm as in fact deprived him for the time being of the power of self-control;
- (c) in causing the death, he or she acted in the belief, in good faith and on reasonable grounds, that he or she was under a legal duty to cause the death or to do the act which he did; or
- (d) being a woman, she caused the death of her child, being a child under the age of twelve months, at a time when the balance of her mind was disturbed by reason of her not fully recovered from the effect of giving birth to the child or by reason of the effect of lactation consequent upon the birth of the child.

(2) Where a sufficient provocation has been given to the accused person by one person, and he or she kills another person under the belief, on reasonable grounds, that the provocation was given by him or her, the provocation shall be admissible for reducing the crime to manslaughter in the same manner as if it had been given by the person killed; but, except that provocation given by one person is not provocation to kill a different person.

160. Diminished responsibility

(1) Where a person is found guilty of the murder or of being a party to the murder of another, and the court is satisfied that he or she was suffering from such abnormality of mind (whether arising from a condition of arrested or retarded development of mind, or any inherent causes or induced by diseases or injury) as substantially impaired his or her mental responsibility for his or her acts and omissions in doing or being a party to the murder, the court shall make a special finding to the effect that the accused was guilty of murder but with diminished responsibility.

(2) On a charge of murder, it shall be for the defence to prove that the person charged was suffering from the abnormality of mind as is mentioned in sub-section (1).

(3) Where a special finding as is mentioned in sub-section (1) is made, the court shall sentence him or her to be detained during the President's pleasure.

161. Suicide pacts

(1) A person acting in pursuance of a suicide pact between him or her and another to kill the other or be a party to the other killing himself or herself or being killed by a third person commits manslaughter.

(2) Where it is shown that a person charged with the murder of another killed the other or was a party to his or her killing himself or herself or being killed, it shall be for the defence to prove that the person charged was acting in pursuance of a suicide pact between him or her and the other.

(3) For the purposes of this section, "suicide pact" means a common agreement between two or more persons having for its object the death of all of them, whether or not each is to take his or her own life, but nothing done by a person who enters into a suicide pact shall be treated as done by him or her in pursuance of the pact unless it is done while he or she has the settled intention of dying in pursuance of the pact.

162. Definition of causing death

A person is deemed to have caused the death of another person although his or her act is not the immediate or the sole cause of death in any of the following cases if -

- (a) he or she inflicts bodily injury on another person in consequence of which that other person undergoes surgical or medical treatment which causes death. In this case it is immaterial whether the treatment was proper or mistaken, if it was employed in good faith and with common knowledge and skill; but the person inflicting the injury is not deemed to have caused the death if the treatment which was its immediate cause was not employed in good faith or was so employed without common knowledge or skill;
- (b) he or she inflicts bodily injury on another which would not have caused death if the injured person had submitted to proper surgical or medical treatment or had observed proper precautions as to his or her mode of living;
- (c) by actual or threatened violence, he or she causes the other person to perform an act which causes the death of that person, the act being a means of avoiding such violence which in the circumstances would appear natural to the person whose death is so caused;
- (d) by any act or omission, he or she hastened the death of a person suffering under any disease or injury which apart from the act or omission would have caused death; and
- (e) his or her act or omission would not have caused death unless it had been accompanied by an act or omission of the person killed or of other persons.

163. When child deemed to be a person

A child becomes a person capable of being killed when it has completely proceeded in a living state from the body of its mother, whether it has breathed or not, and whether it has an independent circulation or not, and whether the navel string is severed or not.

164. Limitation as to time of death

(1) The rule known as the “year and a day rule” (that is, the rule that, for the purposes of offences involving death and of suicide, an act or omission is conclusively presumed not to have caused a person’s death if more than a year and a day elapsed before he or she died) is abolished for all purposes.

- (2) Proceedings against a person for a fatal offence if the -
- (a) injury alleged to have caused the death was sustained more than three years before the death occurred, or
 - (b) person has previously been convicted of an offence committed in circumstances alleged to be connected with the death, shall only be instituted with the consent of the Attorney General.

(3) In sub-section (2) “fatal offence” means murder, manslaughter, infanticide or any other offence of which one of the elements causes a person’s death.

PART XX - INFANTICIDE

165. Infanticide

- (1) A woman who -
- (a) by any wilful act or omission causes the death of her child under the age of twelve months; or
 - (b) at the time of the act or omission the balance of her mind was disturbed by reason of her not having fully recovered from the effect of giving birth to the child or by reason of the effect of lactation consequent upon the birth of the child, commits the felony of infanticide, notwithstanding that the circumstances were such that but for this section the offence would have amounted to murder.

(2) A woman who commits the offence of infanticide is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years.

(3) The court which convicts the woman shall also make such order for psycho-social support for her as it may consider necessary.

166. Killing unborn child

(1) Subject as hereinafter in this section provided, a person who, with intent to destroy the life of a child capable of being born alive, by any wilful act causes a child to die before it has an existence independent of its mother, commits the felony of child destruction, and shall be liable on conviction to imprisonment for life.

(2) A person shall not be convicted of an offence under this section unless it is proved that the act which caused the death of the child was not done in good faith for the purpose only of preserving the life of the mother.

167. Evidence of pregnancy

For the purposes of section 166, evidence that a woman had at any material time been pregnant for a period of twenty-eight weeks or more shall be prima facie proof that she was at that time pregnant of a child capable of being born alive.

PART XXI – OFFENCES CONNECTED WITH MURDER AND SUICIDE

168. Attempt to murder

A person who -

- (a) attempts unlawfully to cause the death of another; or
- (b) with intent unlawfully to cause the death of another does any act, or omits to do any act which it is his or her duty to do, the act or omission being of a nature as to be likely to endanger human life, commits a felony and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for seven years.

169. Attempt to murder by convict

- (c) renders or attempts to render any person incapable of resistance, commits a felony and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for not less than ten years.

176. Stupefying in order to commit an offence

A person who, with intent to commit or to facilitate the commission of an offence, or to facilitate the flight of an offender after the commission or attempted commission of an offence, administers or attempts to administer any stupefying or overpowering drug or thing to any person, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for not less than ten years.

177. Exposing, etc., children

If a person over the age of eighteen years, who has the custody, charge, or care of a child under the age of fourteen years, wilfully assaults, ill-treats, neglects, abandons, or exposes the child, or causes or procures the child to be assaulted, ill-treated, neglected, abandoned, or exposed in a manner likely to cause the child unnecessary suffering or injury to his or her health (including injury to or loss of sight, or hearing, or limb or organ of the body, and any mental derangement), that person commits a misdemeanour.

178. Suffocation of infants

(1) Where it is proved that the death of an infant under three years of age was caused by suffocation whilst the infant was in bed with some other person over eighteen years of age, and that other person was at the time of going to bed in a state of intoxication, that other person shall be deemed to have neglected the infant in a manner likely to cause injury to his or her health within the meaning of section 177.

(2) ‘suffocation’ in this section does not include suffocation caused by disease or the presence of any foreign body in the throat or air passages of the infant.

179. Acts intended to cause grievous harm or to prevent arrest

A person who, with intent to maim, disfigure, or disable any person, or to do some grievous harm to any person, or to resist or prevent the lawful arrest or detention of any person -

184. Wounding and similar acts

A person who -

- (a) unlawfully wounds another; or
- (b) unlawfully, and with intent to injure or annoy a person, causes any poison or other noxious thing to be administered to, or taken by, any person, commits a felony and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years.

185. Failure to supply necessities

A person who, being charged with the duty of providing for another the necessities of life, without lawful excuse fails to do so, whereby the life of that other person is or is likely to be endangered or his or her health is or is likely to be permanently injured, commits a felony and is liable to imprisonment for a term of three years.

186. Surgical operation

A person is not criminally responsible for performing in good faith and with reasonable care and skill a surgical operation upon any person for his or her benefit, or if the performance of the operation is reasonable, having regard to the patients' state at the time, and to all the circumstances of the case.

187. Excess of force

A person authorised by law or by the consent of the person injured by him or her to use force is criminally responsible for any excess, according to the nature and quality of the act which constitutes the excess.

188. Consent

Notwithstanding anything contained in section 187, consent by a person to the causing of his or her own death or his or her own maim does not affect the criminal responsibility of any person by whom the death or maim is caused.

PART XXIII – CRIMINAL RECKLESSNESS AND NEGLIGENCE

189. Rash or negligent acts causing death

A person who by any rash or negligent act not amounting to manslaughter causes the death of another is liable on conviction to imprisonment for ten years.

190. Reckless and negligent acts

A person who, in a manner so rash or negligent as to endanger human life or to be likely to cause harm to any other person -

- (a) drives a vehicle or rides on any public way;
- (b) navigates, or takes part in the navigation or working of, a vessel; or

CHAPTER VI - OFFENCES RELATING TO PROPERTY

PART XXVI – THEFT

218. Definition of Theft

(1) A person who fraudulently and without claim of right takes anything capable of being stolen, or fraudulently converts to the use of any person, other than the general or special owner thereof, anything capable of being stolen, is said to steal that thing.

(2) A person who takes or converts anything capable of being stolen is deemed to do so fraudulently if he or she does so with any of the following intents -

- (a) an intent permanently to deprive the general or special owner of the thing of it;
- (b) an intent to use the thing as a pledge or security;
- (c) an intent to part with it on a condition as to its return which the person taking or converting it may be unable to perform;
- (d) an intent to deal with it in such a manner that it cannot be returned in the condition in which it was at the time of the taking or conversion; or
- (e) in the case of money, an intent to use it at the will of the person who takes or converts it, although he or she may intend afterwards to repay the amount to the owner.

(3) The term “special owner” includes any person who has any charge or lien on the thing in question, or any right arising from or dependent on holding possession of the thing in question.

(4) When a thing stolen is converted, it is immaterial –

- (a) whether it is taken for the purpose of conversion;
- (b) whether it is at the time of the conversion, in the possession of the person who converts it; or
- (c) that the person who converts the thing in question is the holder of a power of attorney for the disposition of it, or is otherwise authorised to dispose of it.

(5) When a thing converted has been lost by the owner and found by the person who converts it, the conversion is not deemed to be fraudulent if at the time of the conversion the person taking or converting the thing does not know who is the owner, and believes on reasonable grounds that the owner cannot be discovered.

(6) A person shall not be deemed to take a thing unless he or she moves the thing or causes it to move.

219. Things capable of being stolen

(1) Every inanimate thing whatever which is the property of a person, and which is movable, is capable of being stolen.

(2) Every inanimate thing which is the property of any person, and which is capable of being made movable, is capable of being stolen as soon as it becomes movable, although it is made movable in order to steal it.

(3) Every tame animal, whether tame by nature or wild by nature and subsequently tamed, which is the property of any person is capable of being stolen.

(4) A wild animal of a kind which is not ordinarily found in a condition of natural liberty in The Gambia, which is the property of any person, and which is usually kept in a state of confinement, is capable of being stolen, whether it is actually in confinement or has escaped from confinement.

(5) A wild animal by nature, of a kind which is ordinarily found in a condition of natural liberty in The Gambia, which is the property of a person, is capable of being stolen while it is in confinement, and while it is being actually pursued after escaping from confinement, but not at any other time.

(6) A wild animal by nature is deemed to be in a state of confinement so long as it is in a den, cage, tank or other small enclosure, or is otherwise so placed that it cannot escape and that its owner can take possession of it at pleasure.

(7) Wild animals in the enjoyment of their natural liberty are not capable of being stolen, but their dead bodies are capable of being stolen.

(8) Everything produced by or forming part of the body of an animal capable of being stolen is capable of being stolen.

220. Special cases

(1) When a Factor or Agent pledges or gives a lien on any goods or document of title to goods entrusted to him or her for the purpose of sale or otherwise for any sum of money not greater than the amount due to him or her from his or her principal at the time of pledging or giving the lien, together with the amount of any bill of exchange or promissory note accepted or made by him or her for or on account of his or her principal, such dealing with the goods or document of title is not deemed to be theft.

(2) When a servant, contrary to his or her master's orders, takes from his or her possession any food in order that it may be given to an animal belonging to or in the possession of his or her master, such taking is not deemed to be theft.

221. Funds and property held under direction

When a person receives any money or valuable security or a power of attorney for the sale, mortgage, pledge or other disposition of any property, with a direction in either case that –

- (a) such money or any part thereof, or any other money received in exchange for it; or
- (b) any part thereof, or the proceeds or any part of the proceeds of the security, or of the mortgage, pledge or other disposition, shall be applied to any purpose or paid to any person specified in the direction, the money and proceeds are deemed to be the property of the person from whom the money, security or power of attorney was received until the direction has been complied with.

222. Funds and property held under direction, agency and fiduciary obligations

(1) When a person receives any property from another on terms authorising or requiring him or her –

- (a) to sell it or otherwise dispose of it, and
- (b) requiring him or her to pay or account for the proceeds of the property, or any part of such proceeds, or to deliver anything received in exchange for the property, to the person from whom it is received or some other person, the proceeds of the property, and anything so received in exchange for it, are deemed to be the property of the person from whom the property was so received, until they have been disposed of in accordance with the terms on which the property was received.

(2) If it is a part of those terms that proceeds, if any, shall form an item in a debtor and creditor account between him or her and the person to whom he or she is to pay them or account for them and that the relation of debtor and creditor only shall exist between them in respect thereof.

223. Money received for another

When a person receives any money on behalf of another, the money is deemed to be the property of the person on whose behalf it is received, unless the money is received on the terms that it shall form an item in a debtor and creditor account, and that the relation of debtor and creditor only shall exist between the parties in respect of it.

224. Theft by person having an interest in the thing stolen

When a person takes or converts anything capable of being stolen, under such circumstances as would otherwise amount to theft, it is immaterial that he or she –

- (a) has a special property or interest therein;
- (b) is the owner of the thing taken or converted subject to some special property or interest of some other person therein;
- (c) is lessee of the thing;
- (d) is one of two or more joint owners of the thing; or
- (e) is a director or officer of a corporation or company or society who are the owners of it.

225. Husband and wife

A person who, while a man and his wife are living together, procures either of them to deal with anything which is, to his or her knowledge, the property of the other in a manner which would be theft if they were not married, is deemed to have stolen the thing, and may be charged with theft.

226. General punishment for theft

A person who steals anything capable of being stolen commits the felony termed theft, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for five years, unless owing to the circumstances of the theft or the nature of the thing stolen some other punishment is provided.

227. Stealing wills

If the thing stolen is a testamentary instrument, whether the testator is living or dead, the offender is liable on conviction to imprisonment for ten years.

228. Stealing postal matter, etc.

If the thing stolen is postal matter or any chattel, money or valuable security contained in any postal matter, the offender is liable on conviction to imprisonment for ten years.

229. Penalty for stealing of cattle, etc.

A person convicted of stealing a horse, mare, gelding, ass, mule, camel, ostrich, bull, cow, ox, ram, ewe, wether, goat or pig, is liable on conviction to a fine not less than thirty thousand dalasis or imprisonment for not less than one year or both.

230. Stealing vehicle

If the thing stolen is a vehicle, the offender is liable on conviction to not less than five hundred thousand dalasis or to imprisonment for not less than five years or to both.

231. Stealing from the person or stealing goods in transit, etc.

If the theft is committed under any of the circumstances following, that is to say if -

- (a) the thing is stolen from the person of another;
- (b) the thing is stolen in a dwelling-house, and its value exceeds five thousand dalasis, or the offender at or immediately before or after the time of stealing uses or threatens to use violence to any person in the dwelling-house;
- (c) the thing is stolen from any kind of vessel or vehicle;
- (d) the thing stolen is attached to or forms part of a railway;

CHAPTER VII – FORGERY, COINING, COUNTERFEITING AND SIMILAR OFFENCES

PART XXXIV – DEFINITIONS

296. Definition of forgery

'Forgery' is the making of a false document with intent to defraud or to deceive.

297. Document

The term "document" in this Chapter does not include a trade mark or any other sign used in connection with articles of commerce though they may be written or printed.

298. Making a false document

A person makes a false document if he or she –

- (a) makes a document purporting to be what in fact it is not;
- (b) alters a document without authority in such a manner that if the alteration had been authorised it would have altered the effect of the document;
- (c) introduces into a document without authority, whilst it is being drawn up, matter which if it had been authorised would have altered the effect of the document; or
- (d) signs a document -
 - (i) in the name of any person without his or her authority, whether the name is or is not the same as that of the person signing,
 - (ii) in the name of any fictitious person alleged to exist, whether the fictitious person is or is not alleged to be of the same name as the person signing,
 - (iii) in the name represented as being the name of a different person from that of the person signing it and intended to be mistaken for the name of that person, or
 - (iv) in the name of a person personated by the person signing the document, provided that the effect of the instrument depends upon the identity between the person signing the document and the person whom he or she professes to be.

299. Intent to defraud

(1) An intent to defraud is presumed to exist if it appears that at the time when the false document was made there was in existence a specific person ascertained or unascertained capable of being defrauded thereby.

(2) The presumption under sub-section (1) is not rebutted by proof that the offender took or intended to take measures to prevent the person from being defrauded in fact, not by the fact that he or she had or thought he or she had a right to the thing to be obtained by the false document.

PART XXXV - PUNISHMENT FOR FORGERY

300. General punishment for forgery

A person who forges any document commits an offence which, unless otherwise stated, is a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for three years, unless owing to the circumstances of the forgery or the nature of the thing forged some other punishment is provided.

301. Forgery of will, codicil or other testamentary document

A person who forges –

- (a) any will, codicil or other testamentary document either of a dead or living person;
- (b) any probate or letters of administration, whether with or without the will annexed;
- (c) document of title to land;
- (d) judicial record;
- (e) power of attorney; or
- (f) banknote, currency note, bill of exchange, promissory note or other negotiable instrument, policy of insurance, cheque or other authority for the payment of money by a person carrying on business as a banker, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for fourteen years, and the Court may in addition order that the document as aforesaid shall be forfeited to the State.

302. Forgery of judicial or official document

A person who forges any judicial or official document is liable on conviction to imprisonment for seven years.

303. Making or having in possession paper or implements for forgery

A person who, without lawful authority or excuse, the proof of which lies on him or her -

- (a) makes, uses, sells, exposes for sale or knowingly has in his or her custody or possession any paper intended to resemble and pass as special paper such as is provided and used for making any banknote;
- (b) makes, uses or knowingly has in his or her custody or possession, any frame, mould or instrument for making such paper, or for producing in or on the paper any words, figures, letters, marks, lines or devices peculiar to and used in or on the paper;
- (c) engraves or in any way makes upon any plate, wood, stone or other material, any words, figures, letters, marks, lines or devices, the print of which resembles in whole or in part any words, figures, letters, marks, lines or devices peculiar to and used in or on any banknote or document entitling or evidencing the title of a person to any share or interest in any public stock, annuity, fund, or debt of any part of a foreign State, or in any stock, annuity, fund or debt of any body corporate, company, or society in a foreign state;
- (d) uses or knowingly has in his or her custody or possession any plate, wood, stone or other material, upon which any such words, figure, letters, marks, lines or devices have been engraved or in anywise made as aforesaid; or
- (e) uses or knowingly has in his or her custody or possession any paper upon which any such words, figures, letters, marks, lines or devices have been printed or in anywise made as aforesaid, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for fourteen years.

304. Unlawful inquiries relating to the possibility of forgery

(1) A person who, without lawful authority or excuse, the proof of which lies on him or her, either orally or in writing makes inquiries of another person, whether in The Gambia or outside The Gambia -

- (a) about obtaining or supplying or the cost of obtaining or supplying any machinery or instrument or material for the making of any paper or capable of producing in or on any paper any words, figures, letters, marks, or lines resembling any words, figures, letters, marks or lines used in or on paper specially provided for any purpose mentioned in section 306;

- (b) about the cost of making or otherwise reproducing or marking any document referred to in section 306 no matter by what name the document may be referred to;
- (c) as to whether such other person or any other person is prepared to print or otherwise reproduce or would be prepared to print or otherwise reproduce the document as aforesaid; or
- (d) as to whether such other person or any other person is prepared to obtain or would be prepared to obtain the document as aforesaid by any means other than paying full value for the same,

commits a misdemeanour, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for one year.

(2) In the case of written inquiries in connection with any of the matters or subjects to which sub-section (1) relates, the fact that the inquiries were reduced into writing shall be sufficient proof of an attempt to commit the offence and the offender shall be subject to a like penalty as if he or she had committed the offence.

305. offences relating to stamps

A person who -

- (a) forges any stamp, whether impressed or adhesive, used for the purposes of revenue or accounting by any Government department;
- (b) without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie upon him or her, makes or has knowingly in his or her possession any die or instrument capable of making the impression of any such stamp;
- (c) fraudulently cuts, tears in any way, or removes from any material any stamp used for purposes of revenue or accounting by the Government, with intent that another use shall be made of the stamp or any part thereof;
- (d) fraudulently mutilates the stamp as referred to in paragraph (c), with intent that another use shall be made of the stamp;

- (e) fraudulently fixes or places upon any material or upon the stamp as last aforesaid any stamp or part of a stamp which, whether fraudulently or not, has been cut, torn or in any way removed from any other material or out of or from any other stamp;
- (f) fraudulently erases or otherwise either really or apparently removes from any stamped material any name, sum, date or other matter or thing whatsoever written thereon with the intent that another use shall be made of the stamp on the material; or
- (g) knowingly and without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on him or her, has in his or her possession any stamp or part of a stamp which has been fraudulently cut, torn, or otherwise removed from any material, or any stamp which has been fraudulently mutilated, or any stamped material out of which any name, sum, date or other matter or thing has been fraudulently erased or otherwise really or apparently removed,

commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to imprisonment for fourteen years.

336. Lending, etc., testimonial for personation

A person who, being a person to whom any document as is mentioned in section 335 has been given, gives, sells or lends the document to another person with the intent that that other person may utter the document for the purpose of obtaining any employment, commits a misdemeanour.

CHAPTER X – ATTEMPTS AND CONSPIRACIES TO COMMIT CRIMES

PART XXXVII – ATTEMPTS

337. Attempt defined

(1) When a person, intending to commit an offence, begins to put his or her intention into execution by means adapted to its fulfilment, and manifests his or her intention by some overt act, but does not fulfil his or her intention to such an extent as to commit the offence, he or she is deemed to attempt to commit the offence.

(2) It is immaterial, except so far as regards punishment, whether the offender does all that is necessary on his or her part for completing the commission of the offence, or whether the complete fulfilment of his or her intention is prevented by circumstances independent of his or her will, or whether he or she desists of his or her own motion from the further prosecution of his or her intention.

(3) It is immaterial that by reason of circumstances not known to the offender it is impossible in fact to commit the offence.

338. Attempts to commit offences

A person who attempts to commit a felony or a misdemeanour commits an offence, which unless otherwise stated, is a misdemeanour.

339. Punishment of attempts to commit certain felonies

A person who attempts to commit a felony of such a kind that a person convicted of is liable to the punishment of imprisonment for life or imprisonment for fourteen years or upwards, with or without other punishment, commits a felony, and is liable on conviction, if no other punishment is provided, to imprisonment for a term of seven years.

340. Neglect to prevent felony

A person who, knowing that another person designs to commit or is committing a felony, fails to use all reasonable means to prevent the commission or completion thereof, commits a misdemeanour.

PART XXXVIII – CONSPIRACIES

341. Conspiracy to commit felony

A person who conspires with another to -

- (a) commit a felony; or
- (b) do any act in any part of the world which if done in The Gambia would be a felony, and which is an offence under the laws in force in the place where it is proposed to be done, commits a felony and is liable on conviction, if no other punishment is provided, to imprisonment for seven years, or, to the punishment prescribed for the felony in question which is less than imprisonment for seven years.

342. Conspiracy to commit misdemeanour

A person who conspires with another to –

- (a) commit a misdemeanour, or
- (b) do any act in any part of the world which if done in The Gambia would be a misdemeanour, and which is an offence under the laws in force in the place where it is proposed to be done,

commits a misdemeanour.

343. Other conspiracies

A person who conspires with another to effect any of the following purposes –

- (a) to prevent or defeat the execution or enforcement of any Act;
- (b) to cause any injury to the person or reputation of a person or to depreciate the value of any property of a person;
- (c) to prevent or obstruct the free and lawful disposition of any property by the owner thereof for its fair value;
- (d) to injure any person in his or her trade or profession;
- (e) to prevent or obstruct, by means of any act or acts which if done by an individual person would constitute an offence on his or her part, the free and lawful exercise by a person of his or her trade, profession or occupation;
- (f) to effect any unlawful purpose; or
